It is worth noting that there is a well-planned forest management and improvement program in place. The owner has carried out impeccable forest management for many years, resulting in the property being very well-maintained from a forestry perspective.

Spanning approximately 600 m2 over two floors (around 300 m2 per floor), the farmhouse also includes a 40 m2 barn and a charming fountain.

The farmhouse is listed and allows for various uses, including residential, family use, agricultural activities, rural tourism, and activities of public and social interest.

It requires complete rehabilitation, making it the perfect opportunity for those who want to have a home with their own unique style in an idyllic location.

Access to the property is via a 4 km forest road from the paved road, 9 km away from Bisbal de Empordà, and 10 km from the finest beaches and exclusive golf clubs in the province of Girona.

The estate is highly attractive as it offers the possibility to restore the forests or convert its fields into regenerative agriculture, applying techniques based on the principle of replenishing the land instead of depleting it, building high-quality soils, retaining rainwater, increasing biodiversity, and promoting human and animal well-being.
